"when quality counts..."

PEOPLE THESE DAYS HAVE AN ALMOST OBSESSIVE INTEREST IN FOOD. WHAT PART OF YOUR WEDDING WILL YOUR GUESTS REMEMBER?

WEDDINGS ARE OFTEN the biggest (and first) event you'll organise in your life, so it's important not to leave things to chance.

Dalton Hospitality's director and chef, Jerome Dalton, with over 20 years' of hospitality experience, often hears from brides that they feel their guests will be judging their wedding. In his experience, one of the most remembered elements seems to be food and service, or lack thereof. Working with brides can be challenging, however Jerome works with all his clients to design their menus based around their individual tastes and preferences. If there's a particular dish you're after, he'll source it, cook it and serve it.

Dalton Hospitality offers complete flexibility on all their menus and believes the caterer should be reproducing the bride's vision of their wedding day, not simply menu option 1, 2, or 3.

Dalton Hospitality, in conjunction with decorators One Stop Wedding Shop, has a unique promotion for those who choose their combined services. Brides will receive 10 percent off the decorating bill, a selection of Dalton's homemade condiments and house wines, and use of a vintage arctic white soft-top Porsche for the wedding and reception (see website for full terms and conditions).
